Apply Now for the Les Bolstad Golf Course Redevelopment Community Advisory Committee

Applications for the Community Advisory Committee remain open for one more week through March 16.

As the University of Minnesota interviews potential developers for the sale of the Les Bolstad Golf Course, the City of Falcon Heights is beginning to outline a master planning process for the site's redevelopment.

To facilitate the master planning process, the City is forming two advisory bodies: a Community Advisory Committee (CAC) and a Technical Advisory Committee (TAC).

The CAC will include members representing Falcon Heights, City commissions, the Grove neighborhood, and neighboring communities. The CAC will serve in an advisory role, helping identify community priorities to guide redevelopment. City staff, consultants, and representatives from the University, and eventually the selected developer, will also participate. The CAC is expected to meet monthly at City Hall beginning as early as mid-April.

The Technical Advisory Committee will include representatives from partner agencies such as Ramsey County, the Metropolitan Council, and local watershed districts to provide technical expertise.

COMMUNITY UPDATES

Updates From Ramsey County

Metro Square Renamed Ramsey County Government Center

As of March 1, Metro Square in Saint Paul is now officially the Ramsey County Government Center. Located at 121 7th Place E., the building serves as a central hub where residents can access county services, including the Ramsey County Service Center, CareerForce employment support, and Ramsey County Community Corrections. The updated name reflects the building's role as a service-focused location designed to make county programs easier to find and access.

Property Valuation Notices and Open Book Meeting

Property valuation notices for taxes payable in 2027 will be mailed to Ramsey County property owners in mid-March. Explore relief programs, deferrals, and other support programs to help manage your property tax payments here.

Property owners with questions about their valuation can attend an Open Book meeting with the Assessor's Office on April 7 from 10 a.m.–7 p.m. at the Plato Building, 90 Plato Blvd. W. No appointment is required.

Make Your Home a Safe Haven

The City of Falcon Heights contracts with the St. Paul Fire Department for fire services.

The Saint Paul Fire Department invites Falcon Heights homeowners to take part in Project Safe Haven. With this FREE program, you will be able to obtain free smoke alarms, carbon monoxide detectors, and StoveTop Fire Stops. This program was created to help ensure you have working smoke and carbon monoxide detectors in your home. Keep yourself and your family safe with early detection of hazards.

Roseville Area Schools Foundation

The Roseville Area Schools Foundation (RASF) supports equity and educational excellence within Roseville Area Schools by awarding grants to teachers and supporting programs from funds raised annually by the Foundation.

Families within the Roseville School District are facing housing insecurity, and in response, RASF has launched the Roseville Family Rent Relief Initiative. Donations to this program provide housing stability for families who have been unable to earn income due to safety concerns.

If you are able to, you can donate here.

Sustainability Fair

Residents of Falcon Heights and Lauderdale are invited to a community Recycling and Sustainability Event on Saturday, April 18, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Falcon Heights City Hall.

The event will offer free electronics recycling, textile recycling, and paper shredding for residents of both cities.

Residents are also encouraged to stop inside City Hall to explore sustainability resources. The event will feature local organizations, kids activities, and a free electrification workshop at noon hosted by Home Energy Squad.

NATURE NEWSFLASH

CITY PROGRAMMING

Discounted Backyard Compost Bins Available for Ramsey County Residents

Why should you consider investing in a compost bin? In Ramsey County, we are lucky enough to have the food scraps drop-off program. The food scraps you drop off at one of the locations (like City Hall!) go to an industrial composting facility and become finished compost that you can access. You can put a lot more items in the Ramsey County Food Scraps Collection Bin than in a backyard setting, because the industrial composting process is able to process things like animal products, grease, and biodegradable products. However, backyard composting is also a great practice to reduce food and yard waste ending up in landfills. Backyard compost should only have plant-based food scraps, leaves, grass, coffee grounds, eggshells, and weeds that have not gone to seed. Backyard composting is great for gardeners who want to generate their own soil amendments to improve the nutrient content and moisture of the soil. Compost requires some tending, but containers like a compost bin and free online resources like this one from the UMN extension make it easy to do!

Ramsey County residents can purchase a discounted backyard compost bin through the annual compost bin sale. A 125-gallon compost bin is available for $80, and residents can use the promo code "Ramsey" for an additional $20 off, bringing the total cost to $60.

Supplies are limited. Purchased bins can be picked up on May 2 from 9 a.m.–1 p.m. at the new Environmental Service Center in Roseville.
